Hockey Sense:	70	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	60

Dynamic and highly-skilled center with the offensive qualities of a superstar in the making. Hughes is among the best forwards to ever come through the US Development Program, as he holds the record for all-time points in the program with 228 points in 110 games played. In addition, Hughes also holds the all-time American mark for most points at the U18 World Championships, as in 2019 he set the single-season mark at 20 points in 7 games played and the multi-season mark at 32 points in 14 games played. Truly, a resumé that speaks for itself, and one that puts him in the same breath as other American standouts such as Auston Matthews, Jack Eichel, and Patrick Kane.

The hallmark of Hughes' game is world class skating ability, skill, and creativity. Jack is one of the best skaters that has come through the Draft in the past decade, and he uses his skating ability to gain an edge on defenders with regularity. Though his top speed isn't quite at the level of McDavid or MacKinnon, I'd argue Jack could be the quickest player on his edges in the NHL as early as the 2019-20 season, as it's his edgework and quick cuts that allow Jack to bring a level of explosiveness and elusiveness to his game. Hughes also owns world-class hands that allow him to handle the puck as quick as his feet can move, as he's consistently able to change angles on both defenders and goalies in order to create opportunities. Remarkable vision and among the best passers in the draft, which makes him a major threat on the powerplay.

Hockey Sense:	70	Shot Grade:	60	Compete Level:	60

A perfect blend of skill and power, Kakko is among the best U18 performers in the history of the Finnish Liiga. During the 2018-19 season, Kakko set the U18 goal-scoring record at the Liiga level, finishing with 22 goals in 45 games as he eclipsed the 21 goal mark previously set by Aleksander Barkov in 2013. Furthermore, his 38 points during the 2018-19 campaign for TPS ranks him 3rd in U18 production in Finland, surpassed only by Aleksander Barkov and Mikael Granlund, a feat that truly puts Kakko in elite company for a player his age.

What makes Kakko so impressive for a player his age is the amount of maturity in his game, in terms of both physicality and decision making. During his time with TPS and at the World Championships with Finland, he proved he can not only hold his own against men, but dominate in terms of physicality and puck protection as he's consistently able to impose his will on opposing defenders in order to create offense for both himself and his teammates. In addition to a dominant physical game, Kakko possesses elite skill and hands as he's able to finish plays in tight and think creatively, though he has the awareness and smarts to not force plays and is able to prolong offensive-zone possessions for extended periods of time. Though he can be an excellent playmaker with gifted passing ability, Kakko fancies himself a goal scorer and will make his living terrorizing netminders and defenders down low and in front of the net with slick stickhandling ability and a dominant physical presence.

Skating:	55	Puck Skills:	70	Physicality:	50
Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	60	Compete Level:	65

Dynamic, tenacious, and competitive Russian forward with the makings of a top line NHL winger. Podkolzin has been one of Russia's top talents at international play over the past couple years, as he's consistently been both a key contributor and leader for Team Russia at each international tournament he's played in. Podkolzin posted one of the best totals at the Hlinka Gretzky Cup back in August, as he tied the single tournament points record with 11 points in 5 games played, including 8 goals in that point total. Throughout multiple tournaments, Podkolzin has also worn the C for his age group multiple times, displaying innate leadership qualities and a burning desire to win.

What makes Podkolzin so special is a high-end blend of elite skill and competitiveness. Podkolzin is a gifted puck handler, as he's regularly able to make flashy plays with hands in full stride in order to beat defenders and create scoring opportunities. His skating stride is a little choppy, but in spite of that Podkolzin is still able to gain good speed. With a motor that never seems to stop running, Podkolzin loves to drive in on defenders and drive the net, as he's entirely unafraid to get his nose dirty in order to create and finish scoring opportunities. Podkolzin's skill set and demeanor results in a player that's able to be a scoring threat at all times, as in addition to a potent rush game and a willingness to drive the net, Podkolzin possesses a great wrist shot and can regularly beat goaltenders from far out with a well-placed shot.

Skating:	60	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	55
Hockey Sense:	65	Shot Grade:	60	Compete Level:	50

A complete, offensive-minded defenseman with the makings of a well-rounded top pair cornerstone on the blue line. Byram solidified himself as not only the best defenseman in the 2019 Draft throughout the 2018-19 season but also as one of the top defensemen in the entirety of the CHL. He was a dominant force for the Vancouver Giants in the WHL, particularly in the second half of the season, as he posted a staggering 26 goals and 71 points in 67 regular season games, with an additional 8 goals and 26 points in 22 playoff games.

What sets Byram apart from his peers is his combination of skill, offensive awareness, and mobility on the blue line that allows him to control the game, one shift at a time. He defends well as he's able to effectively close gaps with his skating ability, and upon retrieving the puck he's always looking to transition to offense as soon as possible. Byram is a gifted passer and puck handler, but also owns a great first step and is able to skate the puck out of trouble on his own and join the rush with ease. Occasionally he's guilty of flying the zone too early or showing lackadaisical effort in his own zone, but it's his abilities on the offensive side of the puck that makes him an elite prospect. Byram is very creative with the puck on his stick and has the ability to make skilled plays in order to generate offense for both himself and his teammates. Always a scoring threat, as he owns both a heavy and accurate shot from the point while also showing the willingness to drive in deep for scoring opportunities.

Skating:	65	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	50
Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	70

Speedy and skilled American center with a motor that never revs down, Turcotte possesses a package that's brimming with potential. Half of the 2018-19 campaign was lost to injury for Turcotte, but when healthy he was arguably the second best player on the US Development Team behind Jack Hughes. In 37 games played for the program, Turcotte posted a gaudy total of 27 goals and 62 points for the Americans, while also adding an additional 4 goals and 9 points in international play at the U18 Championships.

Turcotte is a versatile forward whose offensive game revolves around relentless pressure. Turcotte is among the best skaters in this draft class, as his acceleration, agility, and top speed are all top notch, which in combination with his world-class compete level makes him a handful on the forecheck for opposing defenders. An intelligent two-way player and can strip puck carriers with ease, which allows him and his unit to transition quickly from defense to offense. Turcotte can attack in the offensive zone in multiple ways, as he possesses high-end skill and has the ability to make flashy plays on defenders or make quick plays with his hands in tight on netminders, while also having the willingness and ability to drive in on defenders and play a gritty grinding style of play. Turcotte's shot is roughly above average, as he has the ability to occasionally pick corners on netminders and score from outside, however, he'll make his living scoring below the dots and in front of the net in bushels.

Skating:	55	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	50
Hockey Sense:	70	Shot Grade:	50	Compete Level:	55

An elite level playmaking center with one of the quickest working brains in the draft, Zegras has been one of the US Development Team's marquee players over the past couple seasons. Split between the 2018 and 2019 seasons, and in turn the U17 and U18 US Teams, Zegras posted 100 assists in just 116 games played, while splitting time between the 2nd line center and 1st line left wing positions. Zegras also figured in heavily to USA's squads at the U17's and U18's, as his playmaking ability was on display at those tournaments with a cumulative total of 13 assists and 15 points in 11 games played for the United States.

Zegras is a dominant playmaker in large part due to his world-class brain, as his ability to process the play in the offensive zone is nearly unparalleled in this draft class. His vision is top notch; Zegras can regularly find players through the seam or in the slot while operating on the half-wall on the powerplay, and occasionally he has the ability to make the high-end flashy plays to find teammates. Zegras' skill level isn't elite, but it is very good as he has the ability to dangle on defenders, and at the U18's I sensed more of a willingness to try to create with his hands than in the past. Not a blazer, though I sense his tendency to slow the game down is more of a stylistic preference in order to allow more time to find seams with his vision, as he seems more than capable of pushing the pace of play when it suits him. A little light for his 6'0" frame, but is willing to engage physically at times.

Skating:	60	Puck Skills:	65	Physicality:	60
Hockey Sense:	65	Shot Grade:	50	Compete Level:	55

Large framed center with the playmaking ability and puck skills of a small forward, Dach is a rare and tempting package of skill and size. Dach has been among the most touted Canadian prospects since he went 2nd Overall to the Saskatoon Blades in the WHL Bantam Draft in 2016. Dach has served regularly on national teams for Team Canada at both the U17's and Hlinka Gretzky, where he produced at a pace of 7 points in 5 games at each tournament.

What has always made Dach such a tantalizing prospect is his blend of high-end puck skills, vision, size, and strength, which gives him a lot of tools and options to make an offensive impact on a game. Dach skates very well for a player his size, as his smooth skating stride is not reminiscent of someone who is 6'4" and this allows him to move around the ice with remarkable ease. He's strong on the puck and is hard to win board battles against on the cycle, which allows him to prolong offensive zone possessions for his team with regularity. However, the true selling point of Dach's game is his vision and puck skills. Dach is among the draft's premier playmakers, as his ability to see the play and deliver the puck into precise areas is excellent. Dach has the ability to make high-end skill plays, as he can be flashy and beat defenders with quick dekes in tight or protect the puck to beat defenders wide, which is a rare attribute to find in a player his size. Some have referred to Dach's shot as weak or below average, however, I find his shot to be a non-issue.

Skating:	65	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	60
Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	60	Compete Level:	65

Complete center with a potent mix of size, speed, and power, Cozens has all the tools you want in an all-situations, top line forward. A fixture on the Canadian national teams and consistently among the top forwards in his age group, as he's appeared at the U17, U18, and Hlinka Gretzky tournaments for Canada and contributed as a point-per-game player in each outing. Drafted in the 1st Round of the WHL Bantam Draft in 2017 by the Lethbridge Hurricanes, Cozens quickly ascended and solidified himself as one of the top U18 point producers in the WHL in recent history.

Cozens game is defined by a diverse skill set in combination with incredible skating ability. Standing at 6'3", 185 lbs, it's rare to see a player with both the skating ability and size Cozens has, which makes him a nightmare for opposing defenders to contain. In full stride, Cozens is like a locomotive as he barrels down the wing or picks up speed through the neutral zone, as he can either blaze around defenders on the outside or go through them in order to gain zone entries and offensive opportunities. Offensively, Cozens skill set favors that of a goal scorer, as his shot receives high-end marks due to his ability to beat goaltenders with hard and well-placed shots. While scoring is Cozens' designated forté, his playmaking ability is well-rounded as well, as he possesses both good vision and crisp passing ability. A competitive two-way player who works hard for loose pucks and plays tenaciously on both the forecheck and backcheck.

2018-19	USA U-18 (USDP)	64	72	28	100	39

Skating:	55	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	20
Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	75	Compete Level:	60

Undersized but explosive winger with world-class scoring ability, Caufield is among the best pure goal scorers to come through the US Development Program. Caufield scored at an unprecedented rate for the US Development Team, as his 72 goals during the 2018-19 season shattered the previous mark of 55 goals set by Auston Matthews in 2015, while also adding an additional 14 goals at the U18 Championships for a staggering cumulative total of 86 goals in 71 games played. Furthermore, his career goal total for the US Development Team of 126 goals is the highest in Program history, surpassing the previous mark of 93 goals set by Phil Kessel.

Caufield possesses arguably the best shot of any player that's come through the draft in the past decade. The way he can get the puck off his stick with a triple threat of accuracy, strength, and quickness of release is truly special and unparalleled in this draft class and will make him a constant scoring threat at the University of Wisconsin next year and eventually at the pro level. Beyond his shot, Caufield excels as a goal scorer due to his ability to find open ice and soft spots in coverage, which speaks to his intelligence as an attacker and how well he's able to read the play. He's not a burner, which is a drawback to his game due to his size, however, he can move around the ice freely and easily and was consistently able to keep up on a line with the best skater in the draft in Jack Hughes. A slick puck handler and can corral passes with ease, while occasionally making flashy plays.

Skating:	50	Puck Skills:	65	Physicality:	50
Hockey Sense:	65	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	60

Play-driving winger with an elite level brain, Boldy is an intelligent and skilled flank who has developed himself into a high-end NHL prospect. Boldy has been among the best players in a stacked American age group, as he's been a regular fixture in the top half of their lineup at both the Development Program and at the international level, with consistent production to justify his high placement in the lineup. Tallying 81 points in 64 games for the US Development Team during the 2018-19 campaign with an additional 12 points in 7 games at the U18 Championships in Sweden, Boldy's production places 4th among his American peers behind only Hughes, Caufield, and Zegras.

Skating is the one weakness of Boldy's game, if you could call it that. He skates fine and generally has no problem getting up the ice, but his pace is nothing special and overall average. Boldy is a gifted puck handler, however, and creates offense using his hands and brain. He possesses the skill with the puck to make flashy plays and beat defenders with slick moves to generate scoring opportunities. He can receive difficult passes in stride with ease, and when he gets the puck he's always looking to make a play. Boldy's vision is excellent; when the puck is on his stick he always has his head up looking for an outlet and can regularly find the open man in the offensive zone. Very smart attacker, and rarely works himself into bad turnovers or costly mistakes. Owns a good frame and should only get stronger on the puck with time.

Skating:	60	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	45
Hockey Sense:	65	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	65

An all-situations center with a competitive edge and well-rounded playmaking abilities. The former #1 Overall Pick in the WHL Bantam Draft in 2016, Krebs has shouldered the burden of an underperforming team in Kootenay, where he's served as the captain of the Ice at the age of 17 and been the team's primary producer in addition to that. Krebs contributed to over 37% of Kootenay's total scoring, which adds context to his respectable total of 68 points in 64 games this season in the WHL. Playing internationally with a stronger supporting cast, Krebs performed at a point-per-game or better clip at each of his appearances for Canada at the U17, U18, and Hlinka Gretzky Tournaments, in addition to captaining the Canadian squad at the U18's this past Spring.

Krebs offensively can be defined as a playmaker. He's a gifted passer with great vision with the puck on his stick, and can regularly find teammates in the slot or through the seam on the powerplay for scoring opportunities. Not the fastest player, but can play the game with a lot of pace and make plays at top speed through the neutral zone. Always has his feet moving and plays with a competitive and tenacious edge, as he's a relentless forechecker and conscientious defensive player, regularly causing turnovers and maintaining possession for his team. Can be counted on in all key situations for his team, and wants to be a contributor on each shift he takes. Prefers to pass rather than shoot, but owns a capable wrist shot with good accuracy and release.

Hockey Sense:	65	Shot Grade:	50	Compete Level:	60

Complete package center with dynamic speed and skating ability, Newhook is a motivated and competitive forward with the skill to be an impact player. Newhook has dominated the Junior A level playing for the BCHL's Victoria Grizzlies, being named the BCHL Rookie of the Year in 2018 while winning the league's Most Valuable Player title in 2019 with a torrid season of 102 points in 53 games played. A regular fixture on Canadian national teams, Newhook has been a reliable contributing force, with the U18's being his best international showing with a pace of 5 goals and 10 points in 7 games played.

What makes Newhook such a high-end prospect is his elite level speed, and how he uses his brain and smarts to control that speed. Newhook plays the game with a lot of pace; he always has his feet moving and is able to use his feet to his advantage on both sides of the puck. His straight-line speed is high-end, and it allows him to close gaps on puck carriers on the backcheck while being able to quickly turn and put pressure on defenders; is able to make quick cuts to gain the advantage while carrying the puck with regularity as well. Often you see players with elite feet run themselves out of race track and into turnovers, however, that is not the case with Newhook, as he's smart enough to find holes in the defense with his feet and attack through them. Newhook's skill level is good, as he's able to make the occasional flashy play, although I wouldn't characterize his overall creativity as elite.

Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	55

Dynamic and electrifying center that oozes with speed and creativity, Tomasino is a complete offensive package that can change a game with one shift. Tomasino had to fight to work his way up the lineup for one of the OHL's top teams, the Niagara IceDogs, where he settled into a prominent role in the team's top 6 and powerplay. Tomasino's development and production spiked this season in the OHL for Niagara, as he scored an additional 29 goals and 48 points for the IceDogs as compared to his rookie campaign, and he continued his upward trajectory by earning a bid to the U18 Championships for Team Canada, scoring an additional 5 points in 6 games.

Tomasino is defined by the pace at which he plays the game. His skating ability is excellent, with a top speed that can beat defenders wide and open up space through the neutral zone, while also being able to shift up and down with quick, agile cuts with ease. Always keeps his feet moving and dares defenders to keep up with him, as he's not afraid to cut in off the rush in order to put defenders in uncomfortable positions. Tomasino's hands are high-end and he has a creative mind to match; he's more than capable of making flashy plays on defenders to open up space or make smooth, slick moves to beat netminders. Dual-threat as a playmaker and goal scorer, as his vision is very good while also owning a good shot with a lightning quick release. He's a little light for his current 6'0" frame and in turn, can lose board battles at times to larger opponents, so gaining strength will be a priority for him.

Hockey Sense:	55	Shot Grade:	55	Compete Level:	60

Raw but explosive defenseman that's oozing with untapped potential, Broberg is a two-way defenseman with a tantalizing combination of elite skating ability and size. Broberg exploded onto the prospect radar and made himself a known commodity for the upcoming draft at the 2018 Hlinka Gretzky Cup, where he was among the best defensemen in the tournament with a total of 3 goals and 4 points in 5 games played for Sweden. Now a regular fixture on international teams for Sweden, following up his Hlinka Gretzky tournament with appearances at both the U20s and U18s (where he was particularly strong), Broberg has emerged as among the top defense prospects in his Swedish age group.

Broberg is a 6'3", 203 lb bull of a defenseman, who also happens to be one of the best skaters in the draft. It's rare to find not only a player his size that can move the way he can but a defenseman that can move the puck with the speed and power that Broberg can. He's fast, smooth, and has an excellent first step that allows him to get going off a standstill in a hurry. The transition game is where Broberg excels, and his ability to move the puck is the biggest selling point of his game. Consistency is the biggest glaring issue for Broberg; some nights he's pushing the pace of play with his skating and making clean breakups in his zone, while others he seems tentative and makes poor reads and decisions. When Broberg is on, he's a game changer, and it's a matter of getting him to that level of play on a consistent night-by-night basis.

Skating:	50	Puck Skills:	60	Physicality:	50
Hockey Sense:	60	Shot Grade:	65	Compete Level:	45

High-powered goal-scoring winger with one of the best shots in the draft, Kaliyev is a threat every time the puck is on his stick. Kaliyev tore up the OHL this season for the Hamilton Bulldogs, leading his team in scoring with 51 goals and 102 points in just 67 games played. His mark of 51 goals not only led the Bulldogs but placed him 4th in the entire OHL in goals, while his total of 102 points placed him 6th on the league leaderboards. Truly, Kaliyev led the way for his team offensively and made himself known as one of the most dangerous forwards in the OHL, which is even more impressive when you consider the fact that he won't even turn 18 until five days after the draft is held.

For my money, Kaliyev is the 2nd best goal scorer in this draft only behind Cole Caufield, which isn't a hot take considering his 51 goals this season. Kaliyev's shot is elite and among the best amongst his peers; the velocity he can get off a standstill is impressive and makes him a perfect trigger man on the powerplay. His accuracy isn't on par with Caufield, but his shot is just as heavy if not more. His pace is just average, and in turn, you won't often see him go coast-to-coast on a team, but that isn't to say he isn't skilled. His skill level is very good, as he's capable of making flashy plays from a standstill and uses his hands to change angles on goaltenders before releasing his shot. His shot draws a lot of attention from defenders, and in turn, he has the vision to burn defenses for cheating by finding a teammate with a tape-to-tape pass.

SK:	50	PS:	60	PH:	40	HS:	55	SH:	50	CL:	50

Spence is an offensive defenseman with good skill and smarts, plays with poise and patience with the puck on his stick and possesses excellent puck skills. Weak physically and can lose puck and board battles, will need to bulk up.

NHL Comparable:	Alex Goligoski

85 Kirill Slepets

SK:	50	PS:	55	PH:	60	HS:	55	SH:	60	CL:	55

Attard is a 3rd-year eligible prospect with a big frame and surprising offensive tools, owns a cannon of a shot that can beat goalies from outside with regularity and has good skill as well. Skates fine, but stride is a little sluggish.

NHL Comparable:	Ryan Pulock

90

SK:	40	PS:	50	PH:	65	HS:	55	SH:	55	CL:	50

Tuomisto is a big bodied and physical blueliner with good hockey sense; can separate attackers from the puck with a big hit and win puck battles both in the corners and in front of the net. Has a clunky stride and struggles with pace.

NHL Comparable:	Pavel Kubina

91

Cole Moberg

Position	Team	League	HT	WT	Hand

SK:	50	PS:	50	PH:	60	HS:	55	SH:	55	CL:	50

Moberg is a big two-way defenseman with some good offensive traits in his game, not a dynamic player but skates well for his size and owns a good point shot. Shoots a lot and can sometimes force plays; can win battles well.

NHL Comparable:	Nick Holden

92 Dillon Hamaliuk

SK:	50	PS:	55	PH:	60	HS:	55	SH:	55	CL:	55

Hamaliuk is a power forward with above average offensive smarts and puck skills, strong on pucks and can win battles down low and is very effective on the cycle. Skates fine, but lacks a true dynamic gear in terms of speed and skill.

NHL Comparable:	Benoit Pouliot

93 Ethan Keppen

Position	Team	League	HT	WT	Hand

SK:	50	PS:	50	PH:	60	HS:	55	SH:	55	CL:	55

Keppen is a power winger with good smarts and competitive spirit, can show occasional flashes of skill but hands are about average. Not a dynamic player in terms of skill or speed, but a reliable two-way, physical force.

NHL Comparable:	Josh Anderson

94 Patrick Moynihan

Position	Team	League	HT	WT	Hand

SK:	50	PS:	50	PH:	45	HS:	60	SH:	50	CL:	55

Moynihan is a smart center with good two-way and checking ability, sees the ice well and can find soft spots on the ice to set up plays or bury them himself. Competes and works hard to make up for his lack of skill and speed.

NHL Comparable:	Danton Heinen

95 Mads Søgaard

AT:	55	HI:	50	LO:	60	HS:	50	PO:	60	SZ:	70

Søgaard is a massive netminder with good technique, seals the ice well and allows his 6'7" frame to do the work with very good positioning. Awareness is just okay, as he can sometimes make poor reads and be fooled by passing plays.

NHL Comparable:	Anders Lindback

96 Mike Koster

Position	Team	League	HT	WT	Hand

SK:	50	PS:	60	PH:	35	HS:	60	SH:	50	CL:	50

Koster is an offensive-minded defenseman with good puck skills and vision, quarterbacks powerplays with ease as he can make skilled dishes and survey the zone well. Skating is average and needs to prove his defensive play in college.

NHL Comparable:	Matt Carle

97 Jackson LaCombe

Position	Team	League	HT	WT	Hand

SK:	55	PS:	55	PH:	50	HS:	55	SH:	50	CL:	50

LaCombe is a smooth skating, mobile defenseman with well-rounded offensive abilities; patient with the puck on his stick and plays with his head up while carrying the puck. Not dynamic, but a reliable puck moving blueliner.

NHL Comparable:	Nathan Beaulieu

98

Hugo Alnefelt

AT:	55	HI:	55	LO:	60	HS:	55	PO:	60	SZ:	55

Alnefelt is a Swedish netminder with an NHL frame and good technique, lateral movement and awareness are good and can make difficult saves thanks to his reads and mobility. Not spectacular at any one thing, but very solid.

NHL Comparable:	Tommy Salo

99

SK:	40	PS:	65	PH:	55	HS:	55	SH:	50	CL:	50

Gutik is a big man winger with excellent puck skills, can dangle from a standstill and protects pucks well with his 6'3" frame. Skating is a major concern, as his speed and acceleration are both a hinderence to his upside at this time.

NHL Comparable:	Viktor Kozlov

PLAYER GRADING SYSTEM

Prospects are graded based on:

All Prospects are graded on a system that takes into account multiple defining attributes, such as skating ability and hockey sense, for example. A prospect's overall rank is not directly correlated to their average grade, however these grades are a good indicator for play style and current ability. Grades only take into account a player's current state, not their potential ceiling.
